A Rediscovered Gem in Colorado

ENHANCE THE GOLF EXPERIENCE THROUGH INTERIORS THAT ARE AUTHENTIC, UNEXPECTED, COLLECTED AND REDISCOVERED.

The Project: Colorado Golf Club, Parker, CO

Interior Design: Clay Pryor Interiors

THE INTERIOR VISION

An exceptional golf experience brings this community together and makes for a perfect Colorado living destination.

The club's interior now provides an extension to the community and its lifestyle.

Patrons have an opportunity to experience the club's genuine appreciation of heritage and history here; CGC prides itself as a culture-driven club that is serious about telling its story.

The club provides spaces where members create the character and add to the curiosity within the club through their personal experiences. The interior design tells stories and sets the tone for the club's spirit, which should speak... "celebrate life and enjoy the finer things it has to offer!"

THE COLOR PALETTE

The club displays a specific palette of textures, materials and hues with a few hits of color, just like the surrounding Colorado landscape itself.

This interior palette has a global appeal. We feel the trends for today's resort club market embark on creating upscale environments through combinations of styles with sophisticated beauty and an urban attitude. A timeless, classic approach to the club's refurbishment package feels effortless.

OUR PHILOSOPHY

Designs by Clay Pryor Interiors are individually and beautifully designed to reflect the styles and influences of their surroundings. Clay Pryor, principal and creative director of the full-service hospitality and residential design firm, explains that each project is like a story! Everything has a purpose and perspective.

"The art of storytelling drives our team to capture a strong point-of-view for each project," Pryor says. "Whether we are focused on historic renovations, modernizing existing properties or developing a fresh program for new construction, we are inspired to tell a story through livable environments that function for today's lifestyles. Colorado Golf Club is one such endeavor to create spaces the members can enjoy for years to come. It is a unique place and Clay Pryor Interiors is privileged to be a part of the club's transformation." BR
